G. GENERAL BUSINESS

16/1114.1 Discussion of work plan items for City Council consideration

Recreation Services Manager, Eve Kelso announced that the Commissioner Handbook will be going to the City Council for approval on December 20th.

Commissioner Elasowich asked if the Commission is able to have access to the suggestion box at the library because they don't know what the public wants as they don't come to the commission meetings. Commissioner Clemons stated that in the past most of the ideas the commission has come up with have come under the County's jurisdiction so she reminded the Commission to be mindful of what gets put on the work plan.

Commissioner Hustvedt wants to know how to help, instead of creating new programs and ideas that could potentially burden library staff. He wants to see how the Commission could be helpful in extending the reach of the library to disseminate information and explore how to solicit suggestions from the community.

Commissioner Clemons suggested regular meeting time for coffee or office hours in the community to gather ideas. Commissioner Hustvedt said it should be added to the work plan.

Commissioner Kunkee asked if there would be a birthday party for the Library this year. It should be advertised if City Officials will be in attendance.

Commissioner Kunkee requested to see the budget information from the City/County meeting. Manager Kelso stated that the information is not yet available to the public.

Commissioner Hustvedt suggested inviting young people to do a book review. This could serve as a public speaking opportunity and reviews could be done from a reading list suggested by the community. He stated that the Commission could invite people to share what they have been reading.

Commissioner Clemons stated that they had honored readers, which brought in kids, parents and sometimes even grandparents. It was a good opportunity to get people into the meetings where they could participate with the Commission. She stated that the Commission should have more ceremonial opportunities.

Commissioner Hustvedt suggested a goal of four “touch moments” per year. He would also like the commission to have a goal of helping the library to get their Facebook number to 2500.
