Please go to www.laalmanac.com. In the last year about 84,000 people eligible to register to vote left LA county and the number of registered voters dropped of almost 200,000. The population in LA County is shrinking - it is not just that people are leaving California (150,000) even people who don't leave California, still don't want to live in LA county anymore. I can see why there has been a movement in other counties; let's look at Orange County: less regulations, more pro business, better public school Boards and no vaccination mandate to see a movie or go to a restaurant. Whatever the reason, it is clear we don't need more houses. We don't need more density. Our County population is declining not increasing.

We moved to a single family home in Manhattan Beach 2 years ago with our three young children in order to enjoy the unique, small-town, safe atmosphere offered by this community. The last thing we want is to cede control of local zoning to state bureaucrats so they can undo everything that makes our city so wonderful. The character of our city is at stake, and if our city council doesn't fight back, Manhattan Beach will be irreparably harmed. Unwanted density will be forced on the city without accompanying infrastructure, and before long, Manhattan Beach will be just another overdeveloped, gridlocked LA suburb. I urge the council to reject this Housing Element Update, and I'm happy to see my tax dollars used to fight state overreach in court.

I believe in the separation of powers. There is a reason for this. To stop tyranny like this from happening.. High density housing does not work in small towns. It only destroys them. Do not comply!!!

We do not think the City of MB should comply with this 6th Cycle Housing Element Update, it has been imposed on us and will not be in the best interests of our residents. We stand behind those who vote to NOT COMPLY. We understand there may be consequences, we will stand with you if there are. We are very weary of the State Government imposing their ideas on our city. We need to also let Al Muratsushi and Ben Allen know of our position and ask them to intervene for our city.
